PROGRAM NOTES

Spring programming offers 27 entirely new program series for your listening pleasure. Some of your old friends are returning to the air this semester and, of course, your constant favorites remain on their usual schedule. Sign-off time moves up to 6:15 p. m. in February to give you ten and one-half hours of daily good listening. Here's the lineup—with asterisks marking the newcomers.

Your attention is called this month to the new program series scheduled by the Oklahoma School of the Air. Consisting formerly of only two weekly 15-minute broadcasts, the School of the Air this semester has expanded its in-school listening program to include 10 weekly broadcasts. This was arranged so more pupils in more elementary classrooms of Oklahoma's rural, consolidated and independent districts might take advantage of the opportunities offered by the School of the Air. More complete information on the program lineup may be found on page 11.

DISCUSSION

Proudly We Hail*

Saturdays, 1:00-1:30

The U. S. Army-sponsored radio series, "Proudly We Hail," has been included on the spring schedule by WNAD. Heard via transcription throughout the United States, this show features such stars as Esther Williams, William Holden, George Murphy and Ginger Rogers. The show is transcribed in Hollywood, and was formerly heard over this station as a 15-minute program.

Guest Star*

Saturdays, 3:30-3:45

"Guest Star" is a program of popular music starring leaders of the American theater, movies and the screen whose purpose is to interest the public in a program of purchasing U. S. Saving Bonds.

Holland Calling*

Saturdays, 10:30-10:45 --

A new 15-minute capsule radio version of the March of Time film idea, "Holland Calling" presents on-the-spot verbal pictures of the major industries and services in Holland. Produced by the Netherlands Information Bureau, the series will present something entirely unfamiliar to American Radio Audiences. Interviews with experts, executives and plain workmen have been recorded so that a complete picture of specific enterprises may be gained.

Lest We Forget*

Mondays, 11:45-12:00

This series, representing the work of the Institute for Democratic Education, is a group of inspiring dramas probing the problems of human relations in America. These transcribed broadcasts bring together a distinguished company of dramatic stars directed by Earl McGill and produced by Harold Franklin.

- Feb. 2—Face to Face, starring Helen Hayes.
- Feb. 9—Blow That Whistle, starring Everett Sloane.
- Feb. 16—The Bridge Builder—starring Frederic March.
- Feb. 23—Occupation Housewife, starring Elissa Landi.

America's Economic Development*

Mondays, 3:30-3:45

Dr. Gilbert C. Fite

Through these programs an attempt will be made to acquaint the listener with the major developments in American economic life since colonial times. Major emphasis will be placed on the growth and development of American capitalism, both in the fields of industry and agriculture. The position of labor in a highly industrialized society will receive prominent attention, also. The series will be presented by Dr. Gilbert C. Fite, assistant professor of history.

- Feb. 2—European Capitalism and America's Discovery.
- Feb. 9—The American Colonies and English Economic Policy.
- Feb. 16—Colonial Agriculture.
- Feb. 23—Colonial Commerce and Industry.

Great Figures, American History*

Tuesdays, 9:30-9:45

Others than politicians have had a profound influence on the development of the United States. It is designed in this series to show the historical significance of great men in various activities, literary figures, jurists, generals, preachers and historians. It is necessary to select individuals and any other list could be equally valid. The ones selected cover the whole field of American history as to time, and can be taken as types.

- Dr. A. K. Christian is in charge of the programs.
- Feb. 3—John Winthrop.
- Feb. 10—Roger Williams.
- Feb. 17—John Wise.
- Feb. 24—Benjamin Franklin.

World Incorporated*

Thursdays, 5:30-5:45

Fast ocean liners, airships wheeling through space at terrific speeds have united the whole world in one body . . . The World, Incorporated. Some 25 nations are represented among the students now attending O. U. World, Inc., salutes each week a nation which is a part of this world corporation, and also a student representative of the country being honored. Do not miss this series which we know will bring about a better and finer understanding of our neighbors in all parts of the globe. Countries to be honored include:

- Feb. 5—Argentina.
- Feb. 12—Bolivia.
- Feb. 19—Brazil.
- Feb. 26—Colombia.

WOMEN'S PROGRAMS

OKLAHOMA SCHOOL OF THE AIR

The Oklahoma School of the Air, under the direction of Jesse E. Burkett, has expanded its services this semester to include three new weekly broadcasts bringing to a total of five the number now being produced. All programs will be broadcast twice to enable more schools to participate.

The Oklahoma School of the Air has been organized to broaden the scope of the elementary schools of Oklahoma. Its programs are planned especially for classroom use in the elementary schools and are directed particularly to the rural schools, the consolidated schools and the smaller independent districts in the WNAD listening area.

For the benefit of teachers, the school of the air furnishes manuals to assist in the classroom use of these programs. The manuals include suggestions for pre-broadcast activities, an outline of the content of each program, and suggestions for follow-up activities.

Free Program Bulletins and teachers' manuals may be had by addressing requests to Oklahoma School of the Air, Radio Station WNAD, Norman, Oklahoma.

Following are brief descriptions of the five new program series which begin in February.

News Round-Up*

Mondays, 11:30-11:45

Tuesdays, 1:30-1:45

An authoritative summary of the week's news from three levels: local, national and international. Associated Press teletype releases will be supplemented with background material and the news will be written and edited to fit the elementary grade levels five to eight. The newscasts will be presented alternately by William S. Morgan, Production Manager; Frank Baker, Chief announcer, and Jesse E. Burkett, School of the Air director.

Rhythm and Song*

Mondays, 1:15-1:45

Wednesdays, 11:30-12:00

These programs are directed primarily to the classroom that has neither the time nor teaching staff for regular classwork in music. However, it will prove an interesting supplement to any regularly organized music program. Children of the University Laboratory school will participate in broadcasts, doing the songs and rhythms on the air that listening children will do in the classroom. Pupils in any elementary grade which has not had opportunities in beginning songs and rhythms will find this an interesting series. Mrs. Dolly Connally, assistant professor of music education, will conduct the series.

- Feb. 2—The First Singing School—Mrs. Connally and Laboratory School Pupils.
 Feb. 9—Play Party Games.
 Feb. 16—The Old Songs.
 Feb. 23—We Salute.

Making Friends With Music*

Tuesdays, 11:30-11:45

Fridays, 1:30-1:45

This new series deals with music appreciation on the upper elementary grade level. Mrs. Frank Baker, graduate of Baylor University's School of Music, will direct the programs and will make extensive use of the WNAD library of recorded music. She will weave a story element into the programs to provide interest and continuity. Folk music and composed music will be used in the series. Mrs. Baker formerly taught voice and did graduate work at Baylor University.

- Feb. 3—Origin of the Instruments of the Orchestra.
 Feb. 10—Peter and the Wolf (identifying instruments)
 Feb. 17—Folk Music—Early American, Indian, Pioneer and Cowboy.

Feb. 24—Negro Spirituals.

Spotlight on Health*

Wednesdays, 1:30-1:45

Thursdays, 11:30-11:45

Spotlight on health has been planned by a committee of teachers, school administrators, public welfare workers and members of the state and county health departments. The focus of planning has been on the improvement of health practices among children in the respective communities, and in interesting them to contribute to the improvement of health in their several communities. The series is directed primarily for grades five to eight.

- Feb. 4—We Turn the Spotlight on Health—Dr. L. T. Rogers and committee on health series.
 Feb. 11—Blessing or Menace . . . Water—Dr. Rogers and guests.
 Feb. 18—Friend or Enemy . . . Milk—Dr. Rogers and guests.
 Feb. 25—Burn, Bury or Banish . . . Waste Disposal—Dr. Rogers and guests.

End of the Rainbow*

Thursdays, 1:30-1:45

Fridays, 11:30-11:45

Storytelling has been included on the School of the Air at the request of a large number of primary teachers. Miss Elaine Sanford, senior in the school of radio drama, will be the storyteller. Miss Sanford has carefully selected stories of five different types for this series. These include: (1) Adventure stories; (2) Fairy Tales; (3) True stories of well-known Americans; (4) Animal stories; (5) Children of other lands.

- Feb. 5—East River Adventure
 Feb. 12—Comanche
 Feb. 19—The Drum That Went West
